

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A data transmitting apparatus includes a stream input unit which inputs digital-encoded stream data, a buffer which executes buffering of the inputted stream 5 data, a converting unit which converts information including the stream data on which buffering has been executed by the buffer, into a file according to a capacity of the buffer, and a transmitting unit which transmits the file converted by the converting unit.